Election night brings some surprises

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER and GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

Despite "landslide" victories for most incumbent candidates in Madison County Tuesday evening, there were some surprises.

Probably the biggest surprise (aside from how much better Senator Adlai Stevenson was doing than pollsters said he would) was the victory appearance in the county courthouse of U.S. Congressman Melvin Price.

Price, seeking election to his 20th term, handily defeated Republican Robert Gaffner with 61 percent of the vote in Granite City.

Price arrived approximately 10 p.m., receiving congratulations from supporters before stopping in Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer's office.

"It's great to be here. It's great to be in Madison County," Price said. The congressman, with his wife by his side, sat in Hagnauer's office for more than half an hour before exiting into the lobby of the courthouse.

Then the congressman answered a myriad of questions from reporters. Mostly, the senior congressman fielded questions about Tuesday's victory. However, one question seemed to sum things up neatly.

"What do you attribute your longevity in office to, congressman?" said one reporter. Price paused momentarily before answering.

"It's the people," he said. "I just try to stay close to the people in my district."

Another surprise came in an exclusive comment to the Press-Record by Sheriff Emil Toffant as it became clear he would win another term. "Are you ready yet to announce that you will be a candidate again four years from now?," a reporter asked. "Yeah, sure. That ought to shake up a few politicians," the sheriff answered. Sure I am.

"They used to ask how old I was. That was the first question, until Ronald Reagan was elected. Now they don't ask anymore," Toffant added.

Toffant had kind words for his opponent, Hancel "Speed" Bailey. "Speed's a good man—an ex policeman with a clean record. Sure, I was worried. I do think it means that from now on, all candidates (for sheriff) are

Thompson holds edge

If his current lead proves to be sufficient, Governor James R. Thompson has become the first Illinoisan ever to win three consecutive gubernatorial terms.

But with only 97 percent of Tuesday's voting precincts counted, many Democrats believe Adlai Stevenson III will surpass Republican Thompson's total and win the office.

The tally shows 1,774,010 for Thompson and 1,735,350 for Stevenson, who was this state's junior U.S. senator in 1970-80. The 120,000 uncounted ballots are in Chicago and its suburbs.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar (R) won with 1,764,632 to 1,410,383 for Jerry Cosentino (D) in 88 percent of the precincts.

Former lieutenant governor Neil Hartigan (D) defeated Attorney General Ty Fahner (R), 1,665,744 to 1,312,688 (86 percent of the precincts).

State Comptroller Roland Burris (D) won in a landslide, 2,091,596 to 1,137,790 for Cal Skinner (R) (92 percent of precincts).

And State Senator James Donnewald

Bid-N-Buck auction draws 800

"It was a tremendous success. It was really great to see so many people in downtown Granite City on a Tuesday night. I think it is good for downtown and is a good sign for the future," Paul Halbert, general manager of the Press-Record commented the morning after the Bid-N-Bucks auction which attracted approximately 800 persons to the Washington Ballroom.

Auctioneer Terry "Bones" Allan "had a ball" auctioning away more than $4,000 worth of merchandise, all paid for by Bid-N-Bucks received by downtown shoppers as a free bonus for shopping at stores which were members of the Granite City Centre organization.

The auction was co-sponsored by the Granite City Centre and the Granite City Press-Record.

It was "standing room only" in the large ballroom by the time the auction started. The crowd was entertained by the award-winning barbershop quartet "Male Delivery" as the soon-to-be bidders counted their Bid-N-Bucks in preparation for the main event.

Then the auction started and bidding was furious. "Who will bid $1,500 for this (gift certificate). Do I hear $1,600," Allan shouted.

Quickly, flashlights, a diamond ring, gift certificates, a television and many other items were gobbled up in exchange for Bid-N-Bucks.

A racquetball racquet, lamps, a storm door (including installation), fishing equipment, clock radios and an exercise cycle all went fast.

When a break was in order, the Troy

Lock-dam site busy

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record (Related pictures on Page 25)

The first barge through the new Mississippi River lock immediately north of here is expected to make that 1,200-foot voyage less than four years from now, in September 1987.

In preparation for this occurrence, a dry 2,500-acre area in the middle of the fast-moving waterway is the scene of intensive construction activity this fall.

The lock and its connecting dam will replace the 1938-vintage Alton Locks and Dam 26 facility, which is situated two and a half miles farther upstream.

When the work on the new lock and dam is fully complete in 1989, the Alton lake area—with its 19-foot-higher water level—will be expanded southward to the new structure.

Costing $600 million as now estimated.

ILLINOIS ON BOTH SHORES is visible at the Lock and Dam 26 replacement site; court rulings have placed within this state all that is shown above. Mississippi River shipping continues along the eastern shore, in the background, while a panorama of men and machines has been created along the western bank and extending out into the middle of the river. Dam gate bays are starting to take shape (left foreground) within the 25 acres carved out inside a vast cofferdam. Several of the pumping units that keep the area dry are shown in the left central area of this Press-Record staff photograph by Alan L. Gerstenecker. His smaller photo shows the dredge "America" at work north of the cofferdam.

going to be policemen," he said. By 10 p.m., another Democrat, Michael "Mike" Henkhaus appeared to be ready to claim victory.

With 139 precincts counted, incumbent Henkhaus was defeating Bob Barton (R) by more than a 2-1 margin. When it was over, Henkhaus' lead had slipped only slightly.

At 11:45 p.m., Barton conceded defeat face to face with Henkhaus in the courthouse lobby. "This whole campaign has been out in the open. I want to concede in public. I am not just going to slither out of the courthouse in defeat," Barton said prior to congratulating Henkhaus.

Asked about his future, Barton, a Republican, commented slyly, "With this Democratic landslide, there should be jobs for everyone. I expect they'll be lining up in front of my real estate office to buy houses. The Democrats promise jobs for everyone."

Henkhaus made himself available to reporters before leaving for his victory party. "I ran a positive campaign and was helped by being a Democrat in a Democratic county," he stated.

The margin of victory, nearly two-to-one at the end, was "even bigger than I expected," he told reporters. "I think this shows that the people feel I am doing a good job and I hope to do even better this term," he added.

Circuit Judge George Moran Jr. found his candidacy very rewarding. At 10 p.m., the Honorable Moran was leading in his bid to be reappointed 21,157 for 11,388 against. Those figures came with 125 precincts reporting.

"I expected to run well in Granite City, but I didn't expect to run this well countywide. I am really surprised and happy," he told the Press-Record.

For the most part, the Democratic candidates were expected to win — and win they big for the most part.

But every election night, the news revolves around those close races. Tuesday's (and Wednesday's) close election in Illinois was the was the governor's race.

In the Madison County, Stevenson, the Democrat, was clearly the favorite. But, statewide reports indicated that incumbent Governor James R. Thompson was recovering votes lost in Chicago and Madison County. Most of the comeback resulted, reports say, from downstate votes.

"Have you heard? Stevenson has 53 percent of the vote statewide," a reporter from a Springfield radio station said. "I don't believe it," came the reply.

Although most of the discussion was concentrated on the Madison County and Illinois races, there was considerable discussion of Missouri's Senate race between Republican incumbent John Danforth and Harriet Woods.

That race, as expected, was covered nationally. Danforth's Republican seat in the Senate was one Republicans nationwide were hoping to retain. "The Danforth-Woods race? Associated Press has it dead even," said a woman with a transistor radio to her ear.

All night, returns were coming in from even the most remote corners of the county, but one precinct in Granite City was particularly slow in reporting. Granite City's 14th precinct was still not in by 1:30 a.m. Wednesday. The delay was blamed on a computer malfunction. That required a quick trip back to the courthouse Wednesday morning for the Press-Record to complete its results. Weary faces seen in the courthouse during the wee hours of Wednesday morning mirrored only a few hours of sleep by 9 a.m. Wednesday.

We were surprised to see some who had been off to parties at 1 a.m. But that's the name of the game in covering elections. It's one surprise after another.

'Lights' kickoff on Nov. 16

The annual Christmas cheer drive of the Salvation Army, known as the Tree of Lights, will be launched with a noon luncheon Tuesday, Nov. 16, at the SA Corp. Community Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

Kickoff speaker will be Ray Sonnenberg, banker and longtime National Football League game official.

George Knecht, a United Steelworkers staff member, is chairman of the 1982 Tree of Lights campaign, which will provide food, clothing and other items for needy families during the holiday season.

Knecht comments, "This will be a different Christmas for a large percentage of our community. The Salvation Army expects to be called on for assistance in the upcoming holidays more than ever before."

"We must be prepared to extend a helping hand now and throughout the new year. This year's goal has been set at $35,000; it will take the combined efforts of all to reach it."

'Ghosts,' costumes mark celebration

Ghosts haunted the home of Mr. and Mrs. James (Betty) Cromer, 1613 Elizabeth St., Madison, at left. The entire Halloween display in the front yard was done by the Cromer's sons, Jim and Tommy, and a group of friends including Brian Dohnal, Steve Romanic, Jerry Coerver and Tommy Schiller. It took a week to decide what to include in the display and another week to paint and assemble it. All the work paid off Halloween night when the exhibit was complete and more than a few passersby were quite surprised.

Unique costumes, below left, cluster of vivid purple grapes, a happy scarecrow, pilgrim girl, Dracula's relative and a Cardinal baseball player, were among the 350 guests at the Chouteau Township Halloween party Sunday afternoon.

Young masqueraders, a youthful farmer and Miss Strawberry Shortcake, below, participated in the annual Halloween parade in the Gaslight Plaza Shopping Center, Saturday afternoon, sponsored by the Lioness Club of Pontoon Beach. Treats and prizes were awarded at both events.

GC police continue off-duty jobs protest

Granite City police officers are continuing to refuse off-duty security assignments at local businesses as a way of protesting city rate increases for those services. Union members decided to no longer to take those voluntary assignments shortly after three of the seven regular subscribers withdrew from protective service agreements, due to a Sept. 1 hourly rate hike of about $2.15.

One former customer, First Granite City Savings and Loan, 1825 Delmar Ave., wrote a letter opposing the fee increase to the council. According to President Fred R. Williams, the increase places undue hardships on companies wishing to employ the off-duty police officers for protection and security.

Other customers were the Granite City Community Unit District 9 Board of Education, First Granite City National Bank, Jack-In-The-Box of Foodmakers Inc., Pantera's Pizza, Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl and Fox Industries Warehouse, Inc.

A police representative told the aldermanic finance committee in September that loss of off-duty policemen on the streets cuts into the response time and effectiveness of the regular on-duty patrolmen. Policemen also have lost the additional income from those lost time-and-a-half pay work assignments.

The increases were due to insurance and worker's compensation costs, which, until September, were absorbed by the city, plus a city service charge. Increases ranged from about 4 to 8 percent. Hourly charges now vary, depending on the rank of the police officer, from $17 to $22.50.

The union was hopefully the action would encourage the city to roll back the increase, but, so far, the strategy has not worked. Sgt. Donald Knight, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), Local 1947, said.

First Ward Alderman Everett Morlen, chairman of the aldermanic police committee, called the police action a "strike," but the city's last finance committee meeting.

"For only $2.15 an hour," Knight said, "the city could have at least three more police on the streets Friday and Saturday nights."

Although the issue appears to be deadlocked, Knight said negotiations are continuing between the city and the union. Local businesses want the officers back, according to the officer.

"The city has offered off-hour police protection since 1972.

Steelworkers delay COLA

While United Steelworkers will not give up the principle of cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) pay increases and are not receptive to a flat ceiling on COLA, they have agreed to delay for one month a 9-cent hourly COLA raise that would have been effective Monday.

Major steelmakers and the union are putting the money into an escrow fund to give negotiators more time to revise the present Aug. 1, 1980-83 contract. Some COLA change is considered possible.

In a letter sent last week to local and district Steelworkers leaders who must approve any new agreement, Lloyd McBride, union president, said the 9-cent hike will be deferred for a month.

He said it is too early to tell whether bargaining with the steel industry will be fruitful. If a mutual agreement has not been attained by Dec. 1, the November COLA increase will be paid retroactively.

Although allowing more time for talks with management, the plan sets a deadline on moderating the present contract and on resolving the most difficult issue, proposed easing of COLA payments.

The union is not required to decline the agreement but is aware that many steelmakers reported large financial losses in the third quarter (aggregating $2 billion) and that they expect potentially worse results in the fourth quarter of 1982. An estimated 130,000 steelworkers are laid off at present.

Current talks are the second try to agree on "givebacks" on wages and benefits over the next three years was rejected by the union in July.

The new talks have been in progress for a month. Inflation-related COLA rises since 1972 have been responsible for 65 percent of steelworkers' wage raises. The formula currently calls for a cent an hour for each 0.3 point quarterly rise in the consumer price index.

Firms contend they cannot afford the formula, noting that the changes not only boost pay but also expand the cost of vacations, Social Security and other benefits. Nationwide, employment costs for the steel industry average $23.40 an hour.

Heads of locals may be called to Pittsburgh in several weeks if there has been substantial progress in the negotiations. But there has been no report of progress as yet, and no call for such a meeting has been issued.

BATTERY ALLEGED
Robert A. Elmore, 23, of Cleveland Boulevard was arrested for battery last week 30 minutes after Mrs. Carolyn Klein, 1207 Rhodes St., was struck in the face with a fist and was pushed onto furniture at her home. He was freed on $52 bail.

Wiedemer will lead group to scouts' world jamboree

Marvin Wiedemer of Granite City will lead a contingent of Boy Scouts to Canada next summer as part of a display of international friendship at the XV World Scout Jamboree.

The jamboree is expected to draw 15,000 scouts from around the world to a picturesque campsite 50 miles west of Calgary in the foothills of the Canadian Rockies July 4-14.

Under the theme, "The Spirit Lives On," scouts from Argentina, Great Britain, Israel, Egypt, Zaire, Zimbabwe and many other lands will break bread together, compete in events, trade tokens of friendship, and learn more about each other.

About 4,000 boys and leaders from the United States will attend, representing all 415 councils associated with the Boy Scouts of America. Wiedemer will serve as scoutmaster for those attending from throughout the North Central Region. This includes seven boys from the Cahokia Mound Council, headquartered in Granite City.

At the jamboree, the scouts will immerse themselves in action-packed activities, such as river rafting, gold panning, archery, wilderness hiking, trap shooting, orienteering, lumberjack challenges and special contests.

There will be competition in a dozen sports. And there will be a day at the famous Calgary Stampede, the granddaddy of rodeos.

World jamborees are held once every four years.

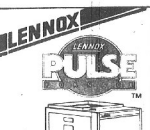

Next year's event will be the second held in Canada. That country hosted the eighth world jamboree in 1955.

Venice purchases refuse truck

By PAT HAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

Venice city council members authorized an installment contract to purchase a refuse truck from the Key Equipment and Supply Company of Maryland Heights, Mo. Presented to council members on Tuesday, the resolution to enter into the contract specifies that monthly payments of $1,324 will be paid over three years on a total price of $41,460.

Retirement; hire teacher

The Granite City School Board on Tuesday night hired Katherine Clay of Granite City from the list of teachers honorably discharged at the end of the 1981-82 school year.

She will replace Anne Madry, a Lake School under primary teacher, who retired Nov. 1 due to personal illness. A disability leave expired on that date.

Harry A. Briggs Jr., Niedringhaus School principal, was designated to also serve as Coolidge Junior High School assistant basketball coach.

In another extracurricular assignment, Steve Cavanaugh was named Coolidge wrestling coach. The board accepted a gift from the GCHS South Dixie Doll Pom Pom Parents Association of 27 vests and body suits for the South pom squad.

It was noted that Judith A. Deterford, Frohhardt School learning center instructor—selected by the Illinois Council for the Gifted as the state's best teacher of gifted students—was honored at a presentation dinner during the weekend at the Illinois gifted conference held in the Chicago area.

Council members entered into the contract because "the city does not have on hand or available to it sufficient funds" to purchase the refuse truck.

A request for a major detour from Madison Avenue and 18th Street in Granite City through State Street in Granite City, Madison and Venice also was approved by the council. The Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, under an agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation, will reconstruct the railroad crossing at 16th Street and Madison Avenue. The detour, which calls for a full closure of Madison Avenue at 18th Street, will be in effect for five days.

Notification of the detour will be made when a detailed work schedule is prepared.

Because We Care

We've found people who understand how to cope with grief are often better prepared to face death when it occurs. Therefore, we have developed a program for community education to provide information on a wide range of subjects, including why we have funerals, talking about death with children and coping with the death of a loved one.

The messages are portrayed with great sensitivity. And, we believe they can stimulate open discussion and lead to increased understanding of some very difficult subjects. Often, we work with teachers, counselors, and club leaders in presenting these programs to classes and seminars. We are pleased to make them available to families, churches, schools, and civic groups.

If you are interested in any of our helpful programs, please feel free to call us for more information.

Stucke heads school board

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

The Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night elected Donald W. Stucke as its president for a potentially controversial year that will include negotiations on employee agreements, difficult budget-cutting decisions and, possibly, school building closings.

The board reorganized for the November 1982-November 1983 year but seated no new members, since its board member elections now are held in odd-numbered years for four-year board terms.

Stucke succeeds George Moore Sr. as president of the seven-member board of Community Unit School District Nine.

Moore was chosen as the new secretary, replacing Robert Maxwell. E. Dewey Melton was elected to continue as school district treasurer.

Members of the board in addition to the three 1982-83 officers are Maxwell, L. Monroe Worthen, Thomas G. Miosky and David Partney. Worthen and Miosky were elected to four-year terms in 1981 and the other five members are starting the final year of their current elective terms.

William W. Schooley was named Tuesday night to continue as the school attorney. Also retained were Attorney Harold Baker, who assists during negotiations with employee groups, and Irvin Slate Jr., who handles occasional special legal assignments.

All of the selections were unanimous among the six members present. Maxwell was in West Virginia on a business trip.

Board meetings will continue to be held at 7:30 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. The board office is at 20th and Adams streets.

Joining administrators in conducting negotiations with certificated employees will be Worthen and Moore, who have been members of the bargaining committee a number of years. The alternate will be Partney, replacing Stucke.

Non-certificated negotiations will be handled by administrators and Miosky, the same as in the past, with Partney continuing as the alternate.

Pres. Stucke will continue to be the school district's representative to the Illinois Large District Council, with Miosky remaining as the alternate.

Replacing Stucke as delegate on the Quad-City special education board will be Maxwell. Partney will

INJURED, ARRESTED IN 18TH ST. CRASH

Mayne R. Shaeffer, 50, of 2309 Wilson Ave. suffered multiple injuries in a crash at 3:35 p.m. Tuesday and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way as her eastbound auto left 18th Street to turn north onto Madison Avenue. There was damage to the left front of her car and the front of the southbound pickup truck of Donald James Jr., 2503 Grand Ave.

4 WARRANTS SERVED

Granite City police served warrants this week on Tim S. Vaughn, 17, of 3039 Sinclair Ave., auto license registration; Randall Parks, 26, of 2127a Delmar Ave., intersection right-of-way; Pennie L. Crone, 19, of the 2300 block of Washington Ave., battery and resisting arrest; and Steven McGrew, 25, of 2308 Elm Ave., city auto registration.

continue as the alternate. Melton was reappointed as delegate to the Southwestern Division, Illinois Association of School Boards, as a member of the Citizens Advisory Council, and as the delegate to the Coalition for Education, which he heads.

Worthen is the alternate member of the Citizens Advisory Council. Stucke will be the alternate delegate to the Coalition for Education.

Partney will succeed Miosky on the Chapter I (formerly Title I) Advisory Council; Maxwell will still be the alternate.

The School Board's policy committee will consist of Stucke, chairman, and Moore and Miosky, members. During the past year, Moore was chairman and the other members were Miosky and Maxwell. Maxwell will be an alternate when there is a policy committee member absent, but simultaneous attendance by all four will be avoided.

As school treasurer, Melton consults with financial institutions, aided by Worthen and Director of Finance Norman Owens.

The new board president, Stucke, 59, a retired insurance agent, is a past president and past secretary of the board.

Born in Mitchell and a lifelong Quad-Cityan, he was appointed to the Board of Education in August 1967 and was elected in 1968-71-74-77-80.

Stucke was president in 1973-74 and 1978-80 and board secretary in June-November 1981.

Secretary Moore, 60, a retired Granite City Army base civilian administrator, has taught business-related courses part-time at Belleville Area College.

A native of Centralia and longtime local resident, he has held numerous leadership positions with the Illinois and national school board associations.

Moore is a past board president, secretary and treasurer. He was elected to a sixth consecutive three-year board term in 1980.

Melton, 43, served an elective term on the board from April 1977 to April 1980. He then was appointed to the board in June 1981 and was elected to a two-year unexpired term in November 1981.

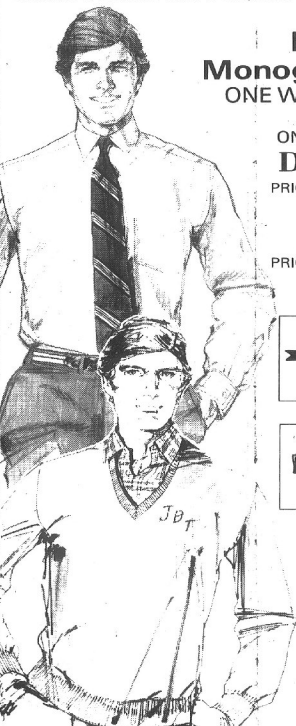

Born in Stewart County, Tenn., and a Granite City school district resident 33 years, Melton is a senior systems engineer with IBM, having been associated with that company for 18 years.

county with 25,525 to 36,301 for victorious Neil F. Hansen, Chicago Democrat and former lieutenant governor. State Comptroller Roland W. Burris, Chicago Democrat, won re-election by a wide margin over Calvin L. Skinner Jr., Woodstock Republican. The tally for Burris was 41,304, more than double Skinner's 20,003.

With Cosentino nominated for secretary of state and retiring as state treasurer, he will be succeeded by State Senator James H. Donnewald, Breese Democrat. Donnewald received 38,154 votes in this county to 34,446 for Peoria Republican John P. Daley.

Circuit Judge George Moran Jr., Granite City Democrat, easily defeated Republican William C. Evers III of Collinsville 38,679 to 22,511 in Madison County.

Sheriff Toffant amassed 44,842 votes to 18,477 for Hancel Bailey, Granite City Republican. Treasurer Henkhaus ran strongly to 41,488 to 19,389 over Bob Barton, Granite City Republican.

The Madison County portion of Illinois state competition gave two-term Governor James R. Thompson, Chicago Republican, 29,349 to trail Hanover Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson III, former U.S. senator. Stevenson totaled 33,114.

Running jointly with them were the lieutenant governor candidates, Illinois House Speaker George H. Ryan, Kankakee Republican, and Democrat Grace Mary Stern of Highland Park, county clerk of Lake County.

Secretary of State Edgar, Charleston Republican, totaled 31,775 in Madison County to 31,800 for Cosentino, Palos Heights Democrat and current state treasurer.

Attorney General Tyrone F. Evanson, Evanston Republican, trailed in this

W. Wolf, Granite City Democrat, was re-elected in the new 11th Representative District, which includes the Quad-City and Edwardsville areas. No Republicans filed. Wolf's total was 29,284.

Meanwhile, in the 112th, Rep. Jim McPike, Alton Democrat, won with 14,799 to 10,822 for Republican Jon Walker, Moro Republican.

For the two-year terms ending this year, the Quad-City area was represented by Wolf, McPike and Republican Everett Steele; Steele did not seek re-election and the Illinois House was trimmed from 59 three-member districts to 114 one-member districts.

Unopposed Madison County officials on Tuesday's ballot were two Democrats who won new terms. County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles of Edwardsville received 53,940 votes and Regional Superintendent of Schools Harold E. "Gene" Briggs of Nameeki Township tallied 50,918.

Democrats unopposed for circuit judgeships were Circuit Judge Charles W. Chapman, Edwardsville, Circuit Judge Philip J. Raveck, Troy, and Associate Judge Paul J. O'Neill, Alton. Their Madison County totals, respectively, were 48,834, 49,743 and 50,440.

In the Bond County portion of the Third Judicial Circuit, Circuit Judge John L. DeLaurenti, Pocahtons Democrat, had no ballot opponent. He was denied retention in non-partisan voting two years ago but later was appointed by the Illinois Supreme Court and then ran this year as a Democrat.

Circuit Judge Horace L. Calvo, Glen Carbon, a former Granite Cityan who originally became a judge as a Democrat, easily topped the required 60 percent retention support in non-partisan balloting. His countywide vote was 36,176 yes to 12,985 no.

The three Madison County propositions that were voted on Tuesday resulted from the county government's financial problems. They called for a tax rate on each $100 assessment of up to 2 1/2 cents for the county shelter care home, a rate not to exceed 2 1/2 cents for the county nursing home and an increase in the county highway tax rate limit from the present 10 cents to 12 1/2 cents.

The road tax proposal lost, getting 15,374 yes votes to 35,950 no.

The shelter care proposal carried 29,449 to 22,669 and the nursing home tax won 29,599 to 21,788. Legal interpretations indicate that the two homes will have to share the same 2 1/2-cent rate.

Blue Cross ordered to roll back rates

An Illinois Insurance Department order that called for the drastic reduction of a Chicago district Blue Cross and Blue Shield rate increase for 165,000 Health Improvement Association subscribers was stayed Monday by Cook County Circuit Court Judge James Murray.

The acting director of the Illinois Department of Insurance, James W. Schacht, ordered Blue Cross to roll back its rates Oct. 8, claiming that the insurance company had improperly changed its group rates with resulting rate increases of 48 percent to 250 percent for subscribers.

Schacht's order called for a reduction of the average 48 percent increase to an average of 22 percent for members of the association. The 48 percent increase went into effect July 1 for 165,000 policy subscribers in the association, covering about 325,000 people statewide.

After issuing the order, Schacht said that Blue Cross had not properly negotiated rates, according to rules laid out by the Insurance Department.

Murray's stay in the latest action concerning the insurance company's relationship with the health association. The association formed in 1948 for farmers and small businesses that could not receive insurance from other companies and, since that time, has had only Blue Cross-Blue Shield medical coverage.

Stabbing in Madison

Charges are expected to be filed later this week in relation to aggravated battery and criminal damage to property incidents Tuesday in Madison. A 22-year-old woman was questioned and released by Madison police in connection with the stabbing of Carlene Wright, 25, 921 Webster St., Madison.

The series of incidents started at 1 a.m. Tuesday when the woman reported her television was missing and claimed that Miss Wright had it.

At 3:18 a.m., Miss Wright reported that the woman came to her home and started knocking on the door. When Miss Wright refused to allow her to enter the home, she allegedly started to scream that if she was not allowed inside she would break out all the windows of the home.

The woman then allegedly obtained a balcony or board and broke two panes of glass in the storm door and tore out the screens at the rear of the home. She then allegedly went to the front of the residence and broke six windows, cutting her arm in the process of breaking the windows.

Miss Wright said that the suspect and another woman walked into her residence at 8 a.m. and accused Miss Wright of having the suspect's stereo. When Miss Wright said she did not have the woman's stereo or TV, the woman allegedly started throwing items around the home and breaking them. The suspect then grabbed a stereo turntable from the home and threw it out the front door, police were told. The woman then allegedly produced a kitchen knife and stabbed Miss Wright in the left hand and palm.

At 8:30 a.m., police returned to the Webster Street address to talk to a witness. At that time, police took Miss Wright to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had refused medical attention earlier for puncture wounds and cuts to her hand and palm.

Miss Wright was admitted to SEMC and is in fair condition. Police are investigating the incidents.

MOTEL ROOM LOOTED

BPW Style Show is Illinois

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's annual style show is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 7, at the Granite City Township Center, 2080 Delmar Ave.

An array of exciting, new and different ideas in fashion will be presented at the show, according to Rosemarie Lindner, general chairman. In addition to the fashion show, BPW members will devote the afternoon to the recognition of St. Elizabeth Medical Center for its contributions to the people of the Metro-East area. Decorations, models, escorts and pages will contribute to recognition of the 74 departments of the multi-community serving health center, Mrs. Lindner said. Fifteen local stores will furnish the fashions, to be previewed by 70 different models. Refreshments will be served during the two-hour show by Candy Strippers from SEMC and entertainment will be provided by "A Rose and Three Thorns," SEMC's musical group which includes Bob Gill, public relations, Pattie Hutchinson, secretary of plant service, Kevin Payton, plant service, and Ron Payton, director of personnel.

The largest craft bazaar selection ever presented at the annual show will be offered by Linda Irwin, it was explained. Donations of $2 per ticket may be purchased from any BPW member or at the door.

IN 'SWEET CHARITY'
Marsha Fisher of Granite City is among the cast members in the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville University Theater production of the musical "Sweet Charity," which plays nightly now through Saturday in the Communications Building theater at SIUE. Showtime is 8:15 nightly.

visioned, the biggest one-site civil works project in United States could see its price tag rise to $1,750,000 if two elements are added—a second lock near the eastern bank and a hydroelectric plant along the western shore. The plant would harness the Mississippi's unceasing energy to produce inexpensive electric power.

East time differences are used because the two sides of the river at the construction site can no longer be described as Illinois and Missouri. Thanks to proceedings approved by the two states' legal officers and supreme court justices, all of the project is now within Illinois boundaries.

These and other facts were reported to the Press-Record by Farrell E. Burnett, chief of the St. Louis Army Engineer District's construction branch, who joined William Caudle of the district in leading a tour arranged for visiting federal agency officials.

The late humorist Robert Benchley once speculated on how one might stand at the edge of a river and ponder how to build a bridge across it. When you go to the site, just what do you do first, he wondered.

By a dam site, Burnett has found a much faster answer. You start by putting stones along the eastern shore to protect the river bank from erosion. This sets the stage for the time when the pace of the river is quickened by narrowing the usable channel and routing it closer to the east bank.

The channel diversion already has been accomplished. A northerly extension of the initial cofferdam rectangle deflects the rushing current away. Within this haven, dredge operators keep busy each day with their task of eliminating silt accumulations.

The relatively tranquil basin that has been formed contrasts with the remainder of the river and with the welders, crane operators, carpenters, structural daredevils and others who form the on-site team. Wearing the hard hats are not only men but many women construction workers.

With the shoreline now protected, the second stage of the overall plan also has been carried out—creation of a cofferdam consisting of 45 cylindrical cells.

Each 60-foot-diameter cell is taller than meets the eye; its 105-foot height includes 35 feet above the river surface,

Lock-dam site

35 feet through the water and another 35 feet into the sand.

The cofferdam juts out for 1,000 feet from the west shore. Inside this artificial, impermanent but essential arena, the work goes on. The first six and a half gate bays of the nine-gate permanent dam are to be built inside it and they already are beginning to take shape. If the early phases now visible are augmented by a bit of imagination.

Steel piling also is being driven for additional cells which ultimately will help form a second cofferdam, this one to keep Old Man River away during the building of the 110x1,200-foot lock chamber.

River traffic will continue to use the eastern side of the river as the lock and also a half-gate bay of the new dam are constructed.

The available channel then will have been further narrowed to a width of about 400 feet. Part of the river flow at that time will pass through the gates now being built.

If no snags develop, tangible or budgetary, boats and barges will begin using the new facility eight years after the first contract was awarded by the Corps of Engineers.

How impermanent is the world in which the lock and dam craftsmen and craftswomen are employing their skills? Along with keeping a weather eye out for Congressional budget committees, the engineers and builders are watchful each spring as the yearly thaw raises river levels and creates potential flood conditions.

The big cofferdam was designed to withstand a "flood year flood." Taking into account how long it is intended to be used, there is a one-in-three chance that water could overflow it. Making this theory highly believable, the river reached a point ten feet from the top of the cofferdam several months ago.

Although flooding of the protected area would be undesirable, the structure is durable enough that it could be cleared of workmen for an indefinite period, inundated, dewatered and then put back into service.

Seepage itself is significant, although one would hardly know it while walking about on the riverbed. Four levels of well-points have been installed, and pipes from them lead to five tall pump shelters. The electric pumps, augmented by diesel units in the event of power failures, are kept in operation around-the-clock.

Final phase of the presently scheduled work involves a two-gate-bay dam section and a closure structure between the lock and the east shore. This closure structure would be removed if the effort to gain authorization for a second lock succeeds. Much of it would not even have to be built if there was prompt federal action on an auxiliary lock.

Even without the second lock, which would be a 600-foot-long chamber, the closure structure and two dam gates necessitate a cofferdam, the third. Completion of that cofferdam will effectively close the river. Traffic will pass through the new lock and also, for a short time, continue to use one of the two Altan locks, which are 600 and 360 feet long.

Once closure is achieved, the pool behind the new dam will rise to match the existing pool, and the old lock will remain open for free passage of vessels.

When the new dam and new lock are functioning flawlessly, there will be some removal and alteration of the old locks and piers, Burnett explained. The swiveling railroad bridge at the Altan dam will be changed by adding a lift span so that water traffic can pass beneath it.

Parts of the old locks and dam structure will be removed to allow free navigation.

Other work is intended, in order to enhance the recreational use of the greatly enlarged lake. A marina, boat ramps, beach, fishing area, picnic site, parking lot, nature area and visitor center have been discussed.

The City of Altan hopes to create a small boat harbor in the present main lock. Col. Gary D. Beech, district engineer, is suggesting that the Illinois Conservation Department and U.S. Interior Department join in studying this proposal.

Col. Beech says it is planned to remove nine dam piers, all gates and the auxiliary lock's river wall. Remaining will be the main lock's land wall and the intermediate wall.

He foresees some problems with navigation, water level, debris and winter ice at the proposed marina but adds that these can be overcome.

(D) of Breese was elected state treasurer with 1,710,865 votes, 58.2 percent.

John Dailey (R) (92 percent of precincts). The state constitutional amendment to give judges more authority to deny bail for prisoners was approved by nearly a 6-1 margin. With 82 of 102 counties reporting, the count was 1,127,716 to 196,725.

Instead of 12 Democrats and 14 Republicans in Congress, the Illinois delegation now will total 12 Democrats and 10 Republicans. Nationally, Democrats won 264 and lead in three other races. Republicans won 165 and lead in one district, and two congressmen will be elected Nov. 30 in voting delayed by redistricting.

Democrats bolstered their control of the 59-member Illinois Senate, increasing their ranks from 30 to at least 32.

Republicans lost their majority in the Illinois House. With the 177-member chamber being reduced to 118 under the "cutback amendment," Democrats need 60 to control the House and garnered at least 68 seats, with three races still undecided.

Congressman Melvin Price, re-elected in the multi-county new 21st District, totaled 87,523 to 47,361 for Republican Robert Gaffner and 4,321 for Mrs. Sandra Climaco.

Election leads to 'shared' power

Politics, as they say, is the art of compromise. That will need to be kept in mind in 1983-84 by such governmental leaders as President Ronald Reagan, Republican, who saw Democrats add 26 Congressional seats to their total, and—if his slim lead holds—Illinois Governor James H. Thompson, Republican, who saw Democrats retain control of the Senate and capture a House majority.

There will need to be considerable give-and-take as the two parties ponder new legislative and policy proposals. Neither party will be in simultaneous control of both the executive and lawmaking branches of government at Washington and Springfield.

The people are always right, if there is a sufficient turnout of well-informed, objective voters, so it usually serves little purpose to find fault with the electorate's decisions. In any case, there is little prospect of reversing Tuesday's decisions, except in a few instances in which those who lost by razor-thin margins may decide to formally challenge the apparent outcomes.

Here are our early reactions to the still unofficial results of the 1982 general election.

Quad-Cityans and Madison Countyans gave aid and comfort to Democrats at all levels, including those running statewide. Local and county voters provided especially big boosts for Neil Hartigan, the attorney general winner, popular State Comptroller Roland Burris and the state treasurer victor, James Donahew of nearby Breese.

The balloting was a tribute to the caliber of these candidates and of Secretary of State James Edgar, one of the successful GOP aspirants. During a two-year appointive period, Edgar performed skillfully and communicated well with citizens, smoothing the path for his election bid.

The unexpectedly close gubernatorial race paired two undefeated "thoroughbreds" with long track records of public service.

In retrospect, it is not surprising that former U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson ran so well, but his popularity had been lost from sight as politicos consistently predicted a decisive Thompson victory. As of this morning, officials still had not ruled out the possibility that uncounted Cook County ballots might enable Stevenson to overcome a 38,000-vote Thompson lead.

The key "bread and butter" issue—how to put food on the table when out of a job—undoubtedly helped Democrats in many races across the nation.

Congressman Melvin Price was expected to win dramatically, and did, but Cong. Paul Simon to the south surprised many with his big victory. And Democrat Richard Durbin to the north managed to oust veteran Cong. Paul Findley.

Since the federal executive branch is in Republican hands—and since the administration has been fighting high inflation and high interest rates while apparently accepting higher jobless rolls, many family heads beset with "high anxiety" are blaming the current 10 percent-plus unemployment on that party.

Some voters still think the villain is excessive past governmental spending, although the U.S. House will now be much more liberal, and Democrats gained seven governorships for a national edge of 34 to 16. Republicans still control 54 U.S. Senate seats. Among the GOP senators re-elected was John Danforth.

"Sams" once again will represent the Quad-Cities in Springfield. Senator Sam Vadalabene and Representative Sam Wolf won new terms, as everyone knew they would. Rep. Jim McPike, now in a separate district from Wolf, also was re-elected but it was a close race.

Sheriff Emil Toffant and County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus continued to demonstrate their vote-getting ability, reflecting general approval of their work.

Speaking of compromises, we don't want the sheriff to compromise in fighting crime, but we suggest that the treasurer compromise a bit by speeding fund distributions to hard-pressed taxing agencies; officials were heard muttering among themselves on the day of the election that some of their hoped-for funds had not arrived from Edwardsville.

Quad-Cityans and county residents also gave strong backing Tuesday to Circuit Judges George Moran Jr. and Horace Calvo.

A final note: despite the difficulty that all tax proposals face in the 1980s, Madison Countyans authorized added revenue for both the county nursing home and county shelter care home.

Illness policy punishes too many

Before the hard feelings reach a level that could take years to reverse, we feel the Granite City Council should back off from the employees' sick leave policy which was put on first reading Monday night and could become final Nov. 16.

We do not question that there has been abuse of the sick leave benefits by some employees, but we believe the number is small. We have talked to many city employees over the years and find most to be dedicated public servants.

The employees have taken their fair share of the load caused by the city's financial crisis. They have accepted frozen wages as gracefully as can be expected under such circumstances.

Employees already have made sacrifices for the city, only to be rewarded by an ordinance which will force them to bring in a doctor's note for every time they take a day off sick.

Those who have a doctor will be punished with a $35 or more doctor's office call bill, as well as hours during their illnesses sitting in a doctor's office, instead of home in bed recuperating.

For those who do not have a doctor, the city will pay the bill for them to be examined in the Industrial Medicine Program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. That will be a tough judgment call for the city, deciding who has to pay for his own doctor and who does not.

We feel the proposed sick leave policy will punish many good and loyal city employees who do not abuse their sick leave benefits. Through the wage freezes, these employees have been punished enough.

It's time to kill the proposed ordinance and take the entire sick leave policy back to the drawing boards.

Volunteers helped in protecting Madison on Halloween night

To the Editor:
As a citizen of Madison, I feel that the Madison Police Department, the Madison Fire Department and Explorer Post 104 should be congratulated for their services in protecting the children of Madison on Halloween night.

The fire department was cruising the town and not only entertaining little children who like the fire trucks, the firemen and the bells, but they were also keeping a diligent eye on the children and the property of the residents of Madison.

The police department and the police-sponsored Explorer Post 104 had at least six additional vehicles, marked and unmarked, patrolling the streets and alleys. Also being aware of the safety of the children and the protection of the homes, automobiles and property of the citizens.

I am very proud of the work the fire department, police department and the Explorer Scouts did on Halloween night.

A '72 graduate says his class reunion disappointed many

To the Editor:

Recently the Granite City High School graduating class of 1972 held its 10-year class reunion.

The reunion was in a restaurant in St. Louis. The price per person was $24, which many felt was entirely too much money for the accommodations received.

Half that price would have been more than sufficient. Steak was expected to be served. Instead, breast of chicken was served. But that was only the beginning of a wasted evening. The hall rental was $600. The band cost $750 for four hours of playing. What a joke. No one there had ever heard of the band and they took more breaks than they played.

Half of our classmates didn't even show up due to the outrageous price of the evening. The other half probably wished they hadn't showed up. The whole evening was a total loss.

I always thought a class reunion was a place where people got together to see old classmates and friends and to reminisce about the past. Instead of this we spent a lot of money and had the reunion out of town; why not in Granite City where we all attended school?

Was this all necessary? Surely not. I'm sure I'm not alone in my thinking on this subject, and I'm sure I'm not alone when I say that I will never attend another class reunion like the last one. UNHAPPY '72 CLASSMATE

Monsterama was a big success

To the Editor,

Friday night, Oct. 22, more than 300 people came to the Halloween Monsterama Show of the Venice Park District's Board of Commissioners. It was a big success.

There was not one fight or police arrest. The crowd was polite, the children in the show were excellent and the volunteer adults who helped serve the refreshments were greatly appreciated.

Everything went well and we look forward to a bigger show again next year.

Did the election results hold any surprises for voters in the Quad-Cities and surroundings areas the day after votes for the federal, state and county elections were cast? As members of the Press-Record editorial staff surveyed people on the streets Wednesday afternoon, the outcome of the governor's race was still uncertain.

Jesse Woolfork of Brooklyn

"Well, yes, I'm surprised Stevenson ran as close as he did. But I assumed that the Democratic candidates would make some headway because of the economic situation."

Margo Taylor of Granite City

"The governor's race — that kind of surprised me. I didn't think Thompson would run that well. I thought Stevenson would win. I was hoping Stevenson had it."

Veola Rogers of Venice

"Yes, I was surprised the Democrats won. I wish Mr. Price would be offered another 20 years. (But) I'm proud the governor's race went like it did. Thompson did a lot for the older people. I was surprised to see Stevenson did really come so close."

Marty Hatch of Florissant, Mo.

"No, (but) I didn't think it would be that close. I thought Thompson had a bigger lead in the race."

About 800 jam ballroom for the Bid-N-Buck Auction

HUNDREDS OF BARGAIN SEEKERS filled the Washington Ballroom during Tuesday night's standing-room-only Bid-N-Buck auction. More than 800 persons attended to bid on retail items with a value exceeding $4,000, using Bid-N-Bucks they were given for shopping at stores which are members of the Granite City Centre group. Auctioneer Terry "Bones" Allan, above, auctioned items ranging from diamond rings to flashlights and a television to gift certificates to those present. Entertainment was provided by the "Male Delivery" barbershop quartet and the "Troy O'ry Band." Press-Record employees served hot dogs and soft drinks at 1950s prices. They reported many favorable comments made by departing bidders and concluded that the evening was one of fun and bargains for most.

Venice schools borrow $288,000 for educational, maintenance purposes

By PATH HAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

School Board Monday night. According to Superintendent Robert Vickers, 18 warrants totaling $288,000 for the Education fund and 20 warrants totaling $40,000 for the Building fund will offset any cash flow problems the district may have.

"We obtain the tax anticipation warrants so that we can safely meet our expenses in education and building maintenance and operations," Vickers said. "When we collect our taxes levied for 1982 for these purposes, we pay back the loans," Vickers stated. "We may not even have to use all the money, but we always ask for the maximum."

Vickers also indicated that the district does not presently owe on loans derived from previous tax anticipation warrants. "We have paid all of them back," he said. "It's no problem to pay them back when we collect the taxes," he added. Board members also accepted the resignation of Lucille Hunnicutt, the nurse's aide instructor at Lincoln Technical Center. Mrs. Hunnicutt has worked for the district for 12 years. The East St. Louis Community Performance Ensemble may perform at the Venice gymnasium on Dec. 10. The board approved a request from the group to give a performance at the school, provided that the group acquires the proper insurance certification. No time has been set for the performance.

Church acquires fitness center

By NANCY WEIL
for the Press-Record

The Community Heights Assembly of God Church, 2720 Buxton Ave., has assumed the deed for the Granite City Racquetball and Nautilus Fitness Center at 3801 Stearns Ave.

The church assumed the outstanding mortgage obligations of the center, thus acquiring ownership of the building and 1.3 acre lot Monday after three months of negotiations with the previous owners.

The purchase marks the second acquisition by the church of a community-oriented center in two years. The Community Christian Center at Faith and Marshall avenues was acquired by the church on Nov. 1, 1981.

All active memberships from the previous management will be honored until expiration and can be renewed under new membership plans, said the Rev. Jeff Smith, director of Community Christian Centers and pastor of the church.

While there are no plans to change the name or design of the center, Smith said a pro shop will be included in the building and it will be considered another Community Christian Center, available to members and to organizations and groups on a rental basis. Alcoholic beverages will not be allowed at rental functions, he said.

Calling the racquetball center, "an extension of the church," Smith added that while the center at Faith and Marshall avenues is geared for youth, the new acquisition will be more family- and adult-oriented. "I believe that athletics provides an opportunity for evangelism," Smith said. He was quick to add that the intent is "not to ram religion down throats or be pushy in that respect, but to be available to the community."

Because the center has been acquired by a non-profit organization, Smith said it should cost "about $40,000 less per year" to operate, however, the intent is to have the center be self-supporting, he added.

Mike and Jan Cerny will continue to own and operate the Nautilus Center located on the second floor of the building, Smith said.

Three types of memberships will be available in the racquetball center. The full-play plan requires a $50 initial fee with a $175 annual fee ($50 per quarter or $13 per month), Smith said. The regular racquetball membership requires a $50 annual fee with court costs of $7 for prime time and $5 for non-prime time. Non-members can play for a cost of $9 for prime time and $7 for non-prime time, Smith said.

The center will be open Mondays through Fridays, 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., Saturdays, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Sundays, 1 to 5 p.m.

Dewey Ave. Church to host rally

The Rev. Jack Frick, executive director of the United Methodist Foundation of the Southern Illinois Conference, will speak at a "Good News Rally" at Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church, 2136 Dewey Ave., according to the Rev. Ray Kelley, host pastor.

Rev. Frick will conduct services at the 10-15 a.m. worship hour on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The evening services will feature special music by local talent under the direction of Mrs. Pat Golden and a Thanksgiving polka supper will be served at 6 p.m. Sunday, Rev. Kelley added.

Rev. Frick has served on all the major committees of the annual conference and has held pastorates in Indiana, Colorado, West Frankfort, Benton, Carmi, Murphysboro and Greenville.

He was appointed as delegate to the World Conference of Methodism in London and served as a delegate to the conference in Denver. He also is a Shriner and 32nd degree Mason.

Bid-N-Buck

Opry Band, the house band for the Troy Opry Music Barn in Troy, Ill., performed.

Bidders took a break to count how many Bid-N-Bucks they had left and many seized the opportunity to purchase hot dogs and soft drinks sold by the Press-Record advertising staff at 1980s prices, payable either in cash or in Bid-N-Bucks. Then it was back to the bidding. "I think people enjoyed it more because it was not their own money they were spending. It was something they got for free (for shopping at GC Centre stores). Easy come, easy go," said one bidder. When it was over, most left smiling.

"Due to the many favorable comments offered by the departing bidders, we believe our plans for a fun evening were a success," said Jim Hudson, president of the Granite City Centre. The Press-Record hopes all participants enjoyed the auction and pledges to continue to work with the merchants for other successful joint ventures in the future.

CONCERN OVER ROAD OUTLOOK IN MISSOURI

The Auto Club of Missouri said Wednesday that the defeat of Proposition B, a four-cent increase in the motor fuel tax, will have an immediate impact on improvements and maintenance work on all of Missouri's roads, streets and highways.

"Rejection of the proposal by Missouri voters will necessitate immediate study of alternative measures to help the aging and ailing highway systems. Should a viable alternative not be found, motorists will suffer even greater hardships from abandoned highways, safety improvements and deferred road maintenance programs," a club spokesman said.

Miss Evelyn Bowles is guest speaker

Evelyn Bowles, Clerk of Madison County since 1974, was the featured speaker at the October meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club held at Charlie's Restaurant.

President Sharold Yount opened the session and Rosalie Stern, acting legislation chairman of the event, introduced the speaker.

Miss Bowles, who has been a member of BPW for 34 years, spoke on Women in Politics. She stated that "women are beginning to think of themselves as a class; breaking away from past trends of following their men to the polls and emerging as an independent power with independent thoughts that show signs of splitting the women's vote to many issues and many candidates."

As a result, Miss Bowles explained, "the political establishment is confused about what women want in candidates. The obvious women's issues (abortion, Equal Rights Amendment) do not totally account for what is called the gender gap; today's women are equally concerned about social program cuts, environmental matters and unemployment, and look to candidates with the expectation that the candidates understand their problems."

Miss Bowles encouraged women to become interested in politics; to get involved because it is important to each woman, her family, and her friends. She mentioned three specific areas women can and do function as women in politics: as active candidates, as supporting persons, or as lobbyists. She cautioned interested women to think about every aspect of politics but not to ever put their name on a ballot unless they're prepared to commit themselves to their candidacy and to the office to which they're elected.

During the business session, Mrs. Pearl Kennerly, membership chairman, and Mrs. Emylee Alford, inducted two new members, Jeanne Hornberger and Van Stuart.

Elsie Byrd is honored

Mrs. Elsie Byrd was honored on her birthday by members of the 30ers Card Club at a luncheon meeting hosted at Walton's Restaurant near Edwardsville, last week.

Also present were Mesdames Evelyn Thompson, Emma Elmore, Mildred Sherman, Myrtle Poole, Doris Wood, Mercedes Grimm and Bernice Squires.

Yankee Doodle Dandy musical here Friday

"A Yankee Doodle Dandy" touring musical production of the story of songwriter, George M. Cohan, will be presented at Granite City High School South auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 5.

The production is staged by Producers Foundation, Ltd. of New York and is being performed here under the auspices of the Madison County Arts Council.

All tickets, costing $2, may be purchased at the door on the night of the show which is open to the public, according to Mrs. June Branding.

A toe-tapping, hand-clapping, flag-waving musical production is about George Michael Cohan, actor, composer, playwright, director and producer. All of the events depicted in the play are true, based on biographical research of the Cohan family.

The play is a captivating story of a close knit family, whose qualities of warmth, love and caring produced a much honored, long remembered American, George M. Cohan.

He worked with his family in vaudeville as "The Four Cohans," but had bigger ideas and decided to leave the vaudeville circuit and play on Broadway. His parents did not share his great dreams of success so he decided to break away and strike out on his own.

His parents finally thought that perhaps George was right and they went to New York City and Broadway. Upon arriving in New York, they audition for a famous vaudeville house where Josie is hired and becomes a star, while George can not even get a job.

With his parents' encouragement he begins to write his songs and plays that eventually led him to achieve his goal—Broadway.

The songs and dances interspersed throughout the play are upbeat and exciting, climaxing in a big finale of well-known George M. Cohan hits including, "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Give My Regards to Broadway" and "Grand Old Flag."

Consultants to study costly imported gas

The Governor's Office of Consumer Services (GOCs) announced last week it has retained the services of three energy consultants to develop state regulatory options to deal with the proposed importation of higher priced Algerian liquefied natural gas (LNG) into Illinois.

Alvin K. Grandys, director of GOCs, said the energy consultants are experienced in public utility regulation and the development of regulatory policy options involving higher-priced foreign energy supplies in ratemaking.

They have been retained to present testimony before the ICC on behalf of natural gas burner tip customers in Illinois who will be adversely affected by the importation of the Algerian LNG. Hearings begun by the ICC seek to explore a wide range of regulatory options under its control which it might adopt in providing near- and long-term relief to all affected parties.

"While GOCs has maintained before the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) that the importation of Algerian LNG is not in the public interest and that Tunkline LNG's authorization should be revoked," Grandys said, "we felt that we must be prepared to defend the consumer on this matter in state-controlled hearings pending ERA action."

While the issues surrounding importation of LNG are extremely complex, we are convinced that regulators in Illinois have a number of ratemaking, pricing and accounting tools available which could be applied if federal agencies fail to act quickly and decisively," Grandys said.

Board foresees cooperation on desegregation

The State Board of Education's decision to not appeal the Illinois Supreme Court's desegregation ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court, and to not petition the state court for a rehearing, was by a 13-4 vote. Board Member Thomas Lay Burroughs of Collinsville made the motion.

On Oct. 22, the Illinois Supreme Court ruled 6-4 that the State Board of Education lacked authority to establish rules which would require local school districts to achieve a degree of racial balance in their schools.

That ruling, a result of two suits filed against the board by Aurora East District 131 and Chicago Heights District 170, means that, as the court stated, the "duty to prevent segregation (is) squarely in the hands of the local boards."

The Illinois education board's resolution, approved Oct. 28 in Belleville, states:

"Upon consideration by this board, including recommendations from our own legal counsel and our special outside counsel, we do not perceive at present that any federal question of jurisdiction exists in this essentially state-law matter which might entitle us to seek an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court."

"Further, at present we do not perceive any fruitful basis in seeking a rehearing before the Illinois Supreme Court on this matter, in the face of the nature of the majority of the court."

"However, this board is greatly distressed by this decision of the Illinois Supreme Court, which it perceives as attempting to thwart the clearly declared legislative policy of this state, as passed by the General Assembly and signed into law by the governor."

"This board remains committed to the principle of equal educational opportunity for all the school children of Illinois and to the policy of desegregation which has been adopted in this state and which we will continue to pursue with all our efforts."

"Furthermore, we will continue to work cooperatively with those many school districts in this state which are sincerely and diligently pursuing desegregation in their localities."

"We wish to stress that this State Board of Education is still in the business of working for equal education for all our children."

"We will continue to vigorously pursue all remedies under the existing law which are available to us, including our existing administrative powers and our power of legislative recommendation."

120-year church reunion, service

St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, will be celebrating its 120th Anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 7.

Mrs. Laura Uhlaut, whose husband, Chester Uhlaut, now deceased was the pastor from June 1944 to August 1953, will be the speaker for the morning.

The Rev. Carl Eschenbrenner will participate along with the pastor, the Rev. Allen J. Reiter. The congregation will celebrate Communion and there will be special music. After the single service of the morning at 10:30, there will be a fellowship hour with a light lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee.

It has been a tradition at St. John that each anniversary celebration have a special project.

As the 120th anniversary special project, the committee has chosen to add to the growing fund for "Project Accessibility."

The plan involves financing an elevator so that handicapped persons can have easy access to the church.

When organized in 1862, the local church site was in the midst of a farming area. As the years went by, Granite City was created (in 1896) and the rural land surrounding the St. John Church and Cemetery became urbanized.

The Evangelical and Reformed Church merged into the United Church of Christ 25 years ago.

Steven Sues, who has been arranging a confirmation reunion banquet to be held Saturday evening at the Granite City Township Center, Delmar Avenue and 21st Street, expects 450 guests, some from as far away as California.

Voters here follow Democratic tradition

Quadracyans voted heavily Democratic in Tuesday's general election, although the vote totals indicate that some of those who voted Democratic in most races switched and voted to re-elect Republican Governor James Thompson.

Democratic governor candidate Adlai Stevenson won the Quad-City area with 61.2 percent of the vote, which was lower when compared to Democrat Neil Hartigan sweeping 71 percent Quad-City area vote for attorney general.

U.S. Representative Melvin Price once again proved a top Democratic vote-getter, earning 74 percent of the vote, even though Price was involved in a three-way race with Republican Robert Gaffner and independent Sandra Climaco.

There were 16,848 ballots cast in the four Quad-City area townships, including 9,376 in Granite City Township, 2,982 in Venice Township, 1,416 in Chouteau and 3,074 in Nameoki Township.

Stevenson garnered 9,684 votes in the four townships while Governor Thompson had 6,152 votes. Hartigan defeated incumbent Republican Attorney General T. Fahner with a vote of 11,129 to 4,531, and Price earned 12,033 votes in the Quad-City area, topping Gaffner's 3,817 and Mrs. Climaco's 382 votes.

Senator Sam Vadalabene, an Edwardsville Democrat, was easily re-elected to his 56th Legislative District Senate Seat, topping Republican Richard "Rick" Moulton Jr. 13,393 votes to 2,842.

Incumbent County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus of Edwardsville topped Granite City Republican Bob Barton by better than a two-to-one margin in the Quad-City area with 11,326 votes to Barton's 4,688. Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant of Madison, a Democrat, also won handily, defeating Republican Hannel "Speed" Bailey of Granite City 12,662 to 3,432 votes in the Quad-City area.

Circuit Judge George Moran Jr., a Democrat from Granite City, was the choice of Quad-Cityans for the post, outpolling Republican William C. Evers III of Collinsville 12,188 to 3,431.

A nearly five-to-one vote of confidence was given to Circuit Judge Horace Calvo by Quad-Cityans as 10,122 voted to retain him and 2,668 voted against retention.

Cost control exceeds goal

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that more than $101 million in savings, cost reductions and other benefits have been implemented by the state as part of a cost control program that has now exceeded its goal.

There were some people back in 1977 who felt that the Governor's Cost Control Task Force was going to be just another study group," Thompson said, "but the Task Force's recommendations were followed seriously. As a result, we now have savings for our taxpayers that total $102 million. That amounts to 114 percent of the Task Force's original projections."

Thompson gave his third status report on the implementation of the recommendations from the task force he appointed in late 1977. All of the savings cited in this latest status report are the result of implementation of 91 recommendations made by the task force. This status report covers additional net financial benefits to the state and federal government through savings, cost avoidance and increased revenues during fiscal years 1981 and 1982. These benefits were used to maintain existing state programs and avoid tax increases or reductions of critical state services.

"Because of the success of the original task force, I am today asking the private sector to sponsor a review of the state's cost control efforts and determine where additional savings might occur," the governor said. "I hope that this task force is as successful as the first one."

Thompson cited a number of individual departments and government units for the fiscal 1981 and 1982 savings based on task force recommendations. They were:

- Public Aid: $58.2 million in savings through the collection of private insurance coverage for Medicaid recipients, development of Workfare and the aggressive collection of child support obligations.
- Central Management Services (Departments of Personnel and Administrative Services): $19.2 million saved through revisions to the state group insurance plan, automated risk management system, improved computer procurement practices and training programs.
- Transportation: $14.6 million saved through the elimination of positions and overtime when possible and increased efficiency in overall operations.

- Revenue: $2.8 million through increased enforcement.
- Conservation: $1.5 million through price adjustments to hunting and fishing permits.
- Liquor Control Commission: $2.1 million through delinquent tax collections.
- Corrections: $1.3 million through the expansion of the Correctional Industries program to include activities such as meat processing, furniture refinishing, dairy product packaging and vehicle repair.

The Governor's Cost Control Task Force was formed in late 1977 to provide the opportunity for individuals from outside state government, all highly qualified in their areas of specialization, to examine the operations of state government and prepare recommendations for cost-cutting measures. The latest implementation of the recommendations has been an ongoing effort since the recommendations were approved and adopted as priorities by the Thompson administration in 1979.

The task force report, published in July 1978, documented 678 recommendations aimed at reducing administrative costs and improving the delivery of services. Estimated net annual benefits were more than $447 million for implementing these recommendations.

Julie Hill, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James (Dianne) Hill, 11 Iris Ave., has been promoted to Army Private First Class. Miss Hill is stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C., and completed her first year of enlistment on Oct. 20.

A 1980 graduate of Granite City High School North, Miss Hill is a legal secretary for the Army and is pursuing a law degree.

Grandparents are Mrs. Helen Hill and Mrs. Frances Moehe, both of Granite City.

"Matthew 21:13 ... 'It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves.'"

Our churches, regardless of denomination and God's house are one and the same. Jesus said that God's house shall be called the house of prayer. Prayer means we are communicating with God. We may ask God to supply our needs, to reveal his will for our lives, or we may just lift up our voices in praise and thanksgiving. This all adds up to prayer.

Prayer should distinguish our churches as God's house as much as our preaching and as much as our singing. After all, it is written in his Word that it should be so. We are not heard for much speaking nor for vain repetitions, but according to the measure of faith we have when we pray.

Let it be said of your church, this is the house of prayer.

Mathias dedicates giant bus garage

With U.S. capital funds available but federal bus operating funds being eliminated, the Bi-State Development Agency is establishing modern transit system facilities to help reduce future operational costs, Carl E. Mathias said during the weekend.

Vice-chairman of the agency, the Granite Cityan spoke at ground-breaking ceremonies for a new bus garage at 47th Street and St. Clair Avenue, East St. Louis.

When completed in the spring of 1984, the massive new structure will replace the current garage in East St. Louis and a recently closed Belleville garage.

Mathias said the facility can help bring increased productivity and improved methods.

He said there are predictions that "within the next five years, the price and availability of gasoline and the price of owning and operating a private car will cause people to again turn to buses as a less expensive way to get around."

"Because of federal cutbacks, Bi-State is now operating 650 buses, compared to more than 800 during rush hours a year and a half ago."

Mathias called on leaders in Missouri and Illinois to take a "regionally oriented look at mass transit and decide not only how much transportation they are willing to support financially, but also how that money will be provided."

The ceremony marked the third facility begun as part of Bi-State's garage replacement program. Most of its garages were built for trolley or cable cars in the late 1800s and are regarded as unsuited for maintaining buses of the 1980s.

A new main repair garage at Compton and Spruce in St. Louis is to be completed in the spring of 1983, along with a new station garage in Brentwood.

The 284,000 square foot East St. Louis garage will provide indoor parking for 150 buses, daily bus servicing, bus maintenance and inspection, and an operations center.

Its cost is being paid by a $17,500,000 capital grant from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration and a $4 million capital grant from the state of Illinois.

Mathias called the new garage "a long-range investment into operations. It is good management to spend capital dollars to save operating dollars."

"By modernizing today, we can be more cost-effective tomorrow."

CR STOLEN ON PARKING LOT

Roger Bunselmeyer of Edwardsville found that a 23-channel CB radio, valued at $25, was stolen from his truck while it was parked on the Granite City Steel parking lot at 16th Street and Grand Avenue during the weekend.

Entry apparently was gained by breaking a side window to unlock the door, he said.

Warriors edge Kahoks in '81 sectional rematch

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — It all looked familiar.

With time winding down, the Collinsville soccer team was called for a penalty in the area and Granite South was set to take the shot. It looked as if Tony Segobiano was getting ready to shoot the ball, but Bill Hency got off goalkeeper Marc Parker and came back out. Hency shot again into the upper left of the net at 68:22 to give the Warriors a 2-1 win in their first game of the sectional tournament at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Tuesday night.

South advanced to the sectional by defeating Granite North 2-1 on a fourth quarter penalty kick by Segobiano.

After the game, South coach Gene Baker said he considers it "a privilege to shoot" a penalty kick. "Segobiano might be the best penalty shooter in the state," he said.

When Hency shot and the ball hit Parker, "I looked like a chump for a moment, but then Billy finished it out," Baker said.

While Hency's shot was the game winner, goalkeeper Jeb Blasingame was the game saver.

At 36:16, South was called for a penalty and Tony Ellis, who has made five penalty kicks for Collinsville this year took the shot. Blasingame dove to the left to deflect the ball away from the lower right corner with his hands. Had Ellis made the shot, the Kahoks would have led 1-0.

"It was a big save by Blasingame," Baker said. If the shot had been good, the "rhythm of the game" could have been altered.

South started the game strong with two shots, one from Segobiano and one from Ed Cowley, that both hit the crossbar. It was not until the third quarter that the Warriors put in their first goal at 41:52 when Barry Grote assisted Fritz Brewer from out of a cluster in front of the goal.

Collinsville came back in the fourth and scored when Randy Ratay slipped the ball through on the left on an assist by Marc Mahat at 63:09.

Stranz proud. The Warriors had defeated Collinsville 4-0 during the regular season, but the Kahoks played a much better game Tuesday.

"We got beat by a good damn team," Stranz said. "It was a good effort. I was pretty proud."

When questioned if he believed the penalty should have been called he said, "I don't want to cry about it. I never do like to see a game decided on a penalty kick. But we had one too," he said and shrugged.

Penalty and foul calls in soccer are subjective he said, but he said the rules "wishy-washy." Overall, however, he was happy with the Kahoks play considering that the team is very young.

"South is a very mature, intelligent team. We have a young team. I'm really pleased. I wish the best of luck to South," he said.

Several Kahoks expressed similar sentiments to the Warriors and Baker commended Collinsville for wishing their luck to South.

"Some of the boys (Collinsville) said 'bring it back to South.' That shows a lot of class," he said.

"I have to compliment the Collinsville team. They played with a lot of enthusiasm and pride."

South will play Alton Marquette in a 6:30 p.m. game at SIUE to determine which of the two travels to the state tournament next weekend in Northridge.

Meets Warriors tonight

Alton-Marquette malls Althoff in first round

By JEFF WILSON

EDWARDSVILLE — There's a warning that all coaches issue to their players about a damaging aspect of an opponent's arsenal — Speed Kills. This warning can be used to a team's advantage or disadvantage.

Tuesday afternoon, the Belleville Althoff Crusaders found out what speed does for a team. The lesson they learned was taught by the Alton Marquette's John Stone, as he helped his Explorers race to a 3-0 lead in the first half, enroute to a 4-0 sectional victory over the Crusaders at SIUE's Cougar Field.

The victory went to the faster of the two teams, and that's something Althoff Coach Larry Mank warned his players about before the game.

"That's something I talked to our guys about," Mank said. "We've been hiding a lack of speed all season long, and I think it showed tonight. Stone's excellent. We never had a chance to see him this year."

"He's off the mark so quick. He's just so fast," Mank said.

And with that speed Stone combines the deadly accuracy of scoring goals. He entered Tuesday's game with 44. He left it with 46. The first one was the margin of victory.

At 3:56 of the opening period Andy Velloff crossed the ball deep in the Crusader zone at the top of the goalbox. Stone was there to head the ball past Althoff goalie Doug Fish and the Explorers were on the board 1-0.

Ten minutes later, it was Stone again, this time sending a pass ahead to Scott Brown who shot a ball on goal that Fish got a piece of. However, his defender put the ball in the Althoff net to make it

3-0 Marquette.

Twenty-four minutes later, Stone walked, or fast-stepped, through two Althoff defenders and fired a quick 15-yard shot past Fish that hugged the inside left post of the net. It was 3-0 Explorers and the game was over.

"We really didn't know what to expect from Stone," Fish, a Collinsville resident, said. "I should have went out probably a little quicker on the first goal. I just missed the second one."

And at the other end of the field the Crusaders were having troubles getting the ball to junior scoring phenom Rich Reininger, also a Collinsville resident, who entered the game with 51 goals. Reininger was limited to just one good shot on goal as the Althoff assembly-line offense designed to work the ball his direction never became fully operational.

Pragmatic approach is key to Warrior's success

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The word is out: some people are saying that the Granite South soccer team is going to win the state tournament for the sixth time. It would be simple to agree, but at this point in the season coach Gene Baker's "pragmatic approach" — that is, what has been done before does not necessarily happen again — is the most logical way to look at the sectional and state tournaments.

After Tuesday's 2-1 win over 1981 state champions, Collinsville, the Warriors have yet to play Alton Marquette tomorrow night at 6:30 p.m. at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Marquette, in only its third year of varsity soccer, has had an exceptional year with a 22-1 record. South is undoubtedly the favored team in the sectional and finished the regular season with a No. 1 ranking in both the writer's and coaches' polls of the "Chicago Sting High School Newsletter."

However, anything is possible during post-season play and upsets of highly-ranked teams are not uncommon. For instance, South has won both its final regional game against Granite North and its first sectional game against Collinsville by identical 2-1 scores with a penalty kick being the determining factor.

Against North, a Warrior goal looked to be imminent even if a penalty had not been called. Tony Segobiano crossed from the left and Fritz Brewer was waiting to take the shot when North's Jim Burton caught the ball as he faced the net and stepped over the goal line. But against Collinsville, South was not setting up a possible goal when the infraction was called.

Throughout the regular season South was scored on by only two Illinois teams, winning both games, one against Evanston 4-1 in the final game of the Glenbrook North Tournament early in the season and against Quincy Notre Dame 2-1.

Since post-season play has started,

South has been scored on by two more Illinois teams, both in Southern Illinois. Defeat the North game, South had not been scored on by any team in the Gateway East Conference.

The Warriors were 22-2 after the regular season, marking the first time South has had a 20-win total going into post-season play. Goalkeeper Job Blasingame recorded 17 shutouts during the regular season and one in the first round of regional play against

Even with such outstanding statistics, the Warriors must continue with a pragmatic approach. Other traditionally state-bound teams have been upset in Northern Illinois regional and sectional play.

Homewood-Flossmoor, a team that has been ranked in the SIUE polls throughout the season, was defeated 1-0 by Hinsdale South in the first round of the Hinsdale's sectional.

More tangible upsets have occurred since post-season play started. Hinckley Big Rock, three time contenders at state, were defeated 4-1 by St. Charles High School.

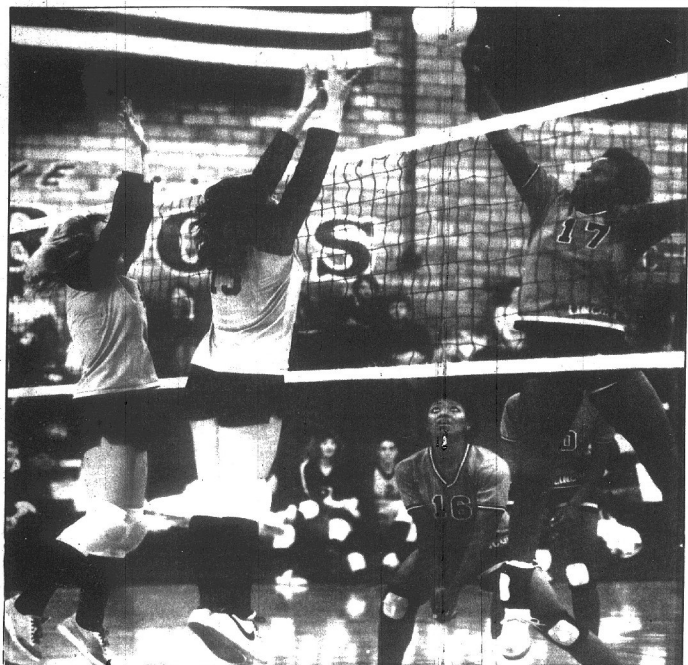

In the Mt. Prospect Sectional, York, which has been ranked all year, lost to Downers Grove South 2-1 on a penalty kick by Jim Wislady.

Downers Grove will play Hoffman Estates to determine which team advances to state from that sectional.

Another big battle was the Palatine High School vs. Fremd game that advanced Palatine to the Northbrook sectional. Palatine will play New Trier which will be yet another good game of post-season play.

Wheeling has had a good year, but fell to New Trier, the state tournament host school, 5-0 in the Northbrook regional. Quincy Senior defeated rival Quincy Notre Dame and then advanced to defeat Peoria Bergan 5-0.

Statistics look good, but mean very little at this point. The approach is what counts and it is the hope of soccer fans here that a "pragmatic approach" combined with exceptional talent will bring the state championship back to South for the sixth time.

Lilley during the second game of their three-game match. Looking on in Lincoln's Karen (16) Searcy. East St. Louis eventually won the contest, thus advancing into the sectional championship game against Althoff tonight.

Lincoln nullifies North

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

BELLEVILLE — In post-season play, the Granite City North volleyball team has kept its fans on the edge of their seats.

One reason for the excitement: the Steelers have made it a practice as of late to start slowly — losing their first game and then coming back to win the second and third games and clinch their matches. The Steelers eliminated both Edwardsville and Collinsville in last week's North Regional with that style of "comeback" play.

Tuesday night, however, the roles were reversed for the Steelers in the Belleville West Sectional as East St. Louis-Lincoln came back after a 15-3 first game loss to defeat North 15-9, 15-10. The Tiger victory eliminated North from the sectional as well as ended the Steeler season.

Despite the loss, North's coach, Paula Wise was pleased with her team.

"We did a lot of things right this season," Wise said. "We accomplished a lot," she said. One accomplishment on the Steeler list of achievements this year is winning the Granite City North Regional. It was the first regional championship ever at that school.

In Tuesday's first game, the Steelers dominated the Tigers to win 15-3. In fact, Lincoln served the ball just four times before the Steelers racked up their 15 points to secure the win.

The Steelers' Tammy Evans started North's scoring romp that first game as she served an ace to tie the game up at one all. But, it was Trish Atkinson's serving that kept Lincoln at bay for 10 unanswered points as North jumped out to an 11-1 lead.

Lincoln managed a second point before the Steelers regained possession to make the score 11-2.

On the Steeler possession, Michelle Morgan served three winners to clinch the Lincoln before East St. Louis regained possession.

The Steelers surrendered one more point to make the score 14-3 before North's Lisa Lilley closed the door on Lincoln with a serve that deflected off a

Steelers

Lincoln player out of bounds.

In the second and third games, Lincoln took advantage of the height difference to spike its way to two final victories.

One person in particular who played havoc on the Steelers those final two games was Tina Hutchinson.

Hutchinson, a 6-foot-3 spiker, drilled winning shot after winning shot into North's center court.

"It's tough to defend against someone that tall," Wise said. "We had a week off to work on taking such shots."

Hutchinson was not the only nemesis Tuesday night. Lincoln's Renea Page, 6-foot-1, and Toni Wallace, 6-foot-4, added to the Steelers' problems. All three proved lethal at the net.

In the second game, Lincoln jumped out to 5-0 lead before Lisa Lilley's serve gave North its first goal.

North's Michelle Sikora served five winners to put the surging Steelers ahead before Lincoln's coach Terryce Walker called for a time out.

After that time out, Lincoln a la Hutchinson, dominated.

Lincoln went ahead after that time out and never trailed for the remainder of that game or the third game.

"I'm not real happy with our play tonight," Walker said. "We got off to a rocky start," she said. "I think it's the excitement of just being here."

Lincoln, now 17-6, will face Althoff Thursday evening in the sectional finale. Althoff earned a berth in the championship game by defeating Bethalto 15-8, 15-7.

The Steelers closed the season 10-14.

Kane is first SIUE harrier in NCAA meet

EDWARDSVILLE — Randy Kane, a junior from Marissa, has become the first cross country runner in Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville history to qualify for the NCAA Division II National Championships.

Kane, a former two-time most valuable runner on the Marissa High School cross country team and a former standout at Belleville Area College, joined the prestigious national qualifiers last weekend at the NCAA-II Regionals by covering the 10,000-meter course in Kenosha, Wis. in a blistering 32:17, good for fourth place in the overall standings. James Nolan, an All-American candidate from Indiana State University-Evanville, topped the field by turning in a 31:16.

Kane will now turn his attention to the 1982 NCAA-II Championships and begin preparing for the Nov. 13 meet in St. Cloud, Minn.

Other Cougars also recorded some of the best times of the season. Dale Kunz, a sophomore from Trenton, finished 50th with a time of 35:07. Bill Wasson, making his final run at a national tournament, finished 61st with a 35:20. Freshman Jim McQuaide, a native of Granite City, was the fourth runner across the line for the Cougars as he recorded a 35:47, good for 68th place overall.

Massa says Brimberry could clear him

Collinsville attorney James Massa says some of those charged in the botching of the now-defunct Stix & Co. brokerage in St. Louis would be exonerated if Thomas Brimberry would set aside the story he has given federal authorities and tell the truth.

"That we conspired is a lie," Massa told a reporter last week.

He noted that the authorities have already concluded Brimberry lied about the involvement of Fred Arnstein, Stix president, in the alleged scheme. Federal prosecutors have said Arnstein has been cleared in the Stix scandal.

Massa and four others — Jerry Maeras, Duane Skinner, Arthur Miller Jr., and Leonard Bednar — have been charged with conspiring to inflate the value of Stix customer accounts with more than $40 million in false or non-existent stocks and then borrowing or misappropriating more than $16 million from the brokerage.

Brimberry, former senior vice president of the firm, had implicated the others in a statement to authorities last fall. In exchange Brimberry was to face a single tax evasion count. But prosecutors are hinting now that their agreement with Brimberry may be off, and that he will be charged in the Stix scandal. Brimberry has never been formally charged with anything.

Part of the agreement last fall was that Brimberry would tell the truth.

Massa told the Collinsville Herald last week that if the deal with the government is off, and Brimberry is forced to tell the whole truth about the brokerage fraud, it will clear several in the case and also make it possible for a federal judge to order restitution from Brimberry. Massa says the deal effectively blocks that restitution as it stands now. He is not the only defendant to claim there are lies being told.

Jerry Maeras' attorney, John Gitchoff, says Maeras was a "dupe" who got caught up in Brimberry's dealings.

He told the Press-Record last week that Maeras will probably plead guilty to one or more federal crimes. Maeras is charged in an information with conspiracy and securities and mail fraud. The other four were indicted by a grand jury Oct. 21.

Massa is charged with 12 counts of mail fraud, six counts of wire fraud, five counts of securities fraud and five counts under the securities laws relating to the creation of false books and records at Stix.

Anorexics confuse independence, starvation

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

A New York society woman once said, "You can never be too rich or too thin." Many people would agree with the first part of that statement, but the medical profession now knows it is possible to be too thin. Irrational dieting carried to extremes, a condition known as anorexia nervosa, is sometimes practiced by teenagers without their parents' knowledge.

Anorexia nervosa affects girls ten times more often than boys. Young women starve themselves in an attempt to meet America's ideal of a woman who is
"model thin."

Young men diet to qualify for a lower weight class in contact sports, such as boxing and wrestling.

The teenager is usually quiet and cooperative — maybe a little obese, but not in all cases. Then something happens that causes an emotional crisis, such as a friend jokingly saying,

"You're getting fat."

There is a natural increase in fatness that comes with adolescence, and if a young girl is already depressed or upset, she might well start a diet that she eventually cannot stop.

Anorexics frequently believe that their lives are controlled by others, and dieting is one means of asserting themselves.

The teenager discovers that for the first time she has some control over her mind and body.

For a child brought up in a strict environment, the diet may develop into an emotional fight to lead a life of his or her own.

If the child is a little

overweight, the parents might even encourage dieting at first. Even if the parents don't encourage it, they may not think of it as any more than a whim to lose a few pounds — until anorexia is well-established.

Anorexics have been known to lose as much as 25 percent of their natural weight, not only fat but muscles as well. Eventually, the signs of chronic starvation will manifest themselves.

One sign of starvation is body chilling. Anorexics feel cold even when everyone else thinks it's warm.

The heart rate slows, a covering of soft hair appears on the skin, and menstruation stops. Ribs become prominent, and arms and legs look as if they are only skin and bone.

If dieting is pushed to the extreme, the individual may experience distorted perceptions of hallucinations. A feeling of euphoria is often a byproduct of malnutrition.

Anorexics usually insist that they eat a lot, but they never want to tell exactly what they do eat. There are those who say that they enjoy the feeling of hunger because it makes them feel good to have a flat and empty stomach.

They almost always say that the emaciation is normal and right.

Anorexics may begin to use laxatives and diuretics
as a way of producing further weight loss. Many anorexics eat very little bulk food, and the resultant constipation is an excuse to use laxatives.

These drugs, if used in excess, can fatally alter the fluid and mineral balance of the body.

Sudden death, usually as a result of self-medication, occurs in an estimated two or three percent of anorexics.

Sometimes persons suffering from anorexia nervosa become super achievers in body conditioning in addition to dieting. They might start exercising, running or jogging, which again a parent might encourage without realizing that the child is carrying it to extremes.

If any readers have any doubts as to whether someone they know is an anorexic, they can be certain they are not if the individual complains about losing weight and makes an obvious effort to prevent it.

It is almost impossible for the family to get an anorexic to eat properly. Sometimes, the help of a dietician or family counselor also will be needed, in addition to the physician.

Concert here by Chorale

The Concert Chorale of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will open the group's 18th concert season with a program at the Nameoki United Methodist Church here Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The church is located at Pontoon Road and Murdock Avenue.

Having recently returned from its fourth European tour, the international award-winning choir will perform a varied program of music, ranging from early baroque motets to contemporary American music.
The group is under the direction of Leonard Van Camp, director of choral activities at SIUE.

The baroque motets to be performed include a five-part setting of "Cantate Domino" by Flemish composer J. P. Sweelinck,
"Lo, How a Rose E'er Bloomed" by Michael Praetorius and Francesco Durante's double choir
number, "Miserere Cordis Domini."

Next, the Chorale will contrast two settings of "Songs of Twilight," one by Austrian composer Franz
Joseph Haydn and the other by Hungarian music
educator and composer
Zoltan Kodaly.

It will then perform music
of English composers, including the familiar "God So Loved the World" from John Stainer's "Crucifixion."

The program will include a Gilbert and Sullivan excerpt, Ralph Vaughan Williams'
setting of the hymn tune known as "Old Hundred," and Samuel Barber's
"Reincarnations."

The concert will close with three contemporary numbers of William, Shaw, Parker and Franklin.

Admission is free. A free will offering will be taken.
